A BOOK BY DON KALTENBACH
WITH TIM RICHARDS

UPDATED & REVISED 2003 EDITION
WITH A FORWARD BY MICHAEL J. DATTOLI, M.D.

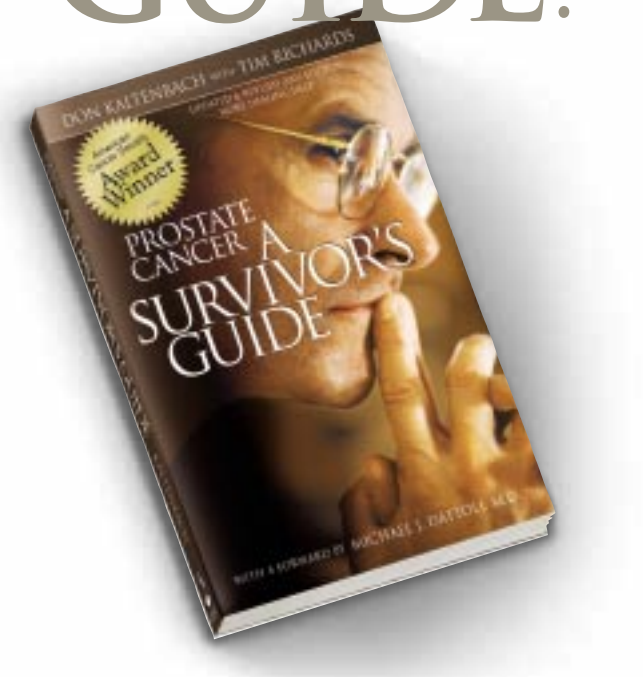
American Cancer Society Award Winner
Fl. Div.

HE WAS A PROSTATE CANCER PATIENT, HE BECAME A SURVIVOR, NOW HE IS A GUIDE.



The comprehensive prostate cancer survival guide written by a former patient and survivor with expert medical advice from leading physicians

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Don Kaltenbach

Don Kaltenbach is the Executive Director of the Dattoli Cancer Center & Brachytherapy Institute. He is also a greater than 13 year prostate cancer survivor. He is a noted lecturer to men's groups across the country and has published award-winning books on the subject and a video recounting his journey to a cure via brachytherapy treatment. A former practicing attorney for nearly 30 years, Don has since dedicated his life's work to increasing awareness about prostate cancer. Don lives with his wife, Nancy, and their three children, David, Graham, and Whitney, in Sarasota, Florida.

Don is also the founder of the Prostate Cancer Resource Network, a non-profit 501 (c)(3) tax-exempt organization created to educate and inform the public about prostate cancer and treatment options. The Network is sponsored by the Dattoli Cancer Foundation. Gifts to the Foundation make possible funding of research efforts for improved treatment of prostate cancer, educational seminars and expanded public awareness.

ORDERING INFORMATION

To order
Prostate Cancer: A Survivor's Guide
write or call:

Seneca House Press
PO Box 50773
Sarasota, FL 34232-0306

Please enclose $16.95 U.S. (23.95 Canada) plus $3.95 shipping and handling.

To order by credit card:
Individual orders: (800) 580-6866
Quantity Orders: (800) 915-1001

For more information go to:
www.PCa-Guide.com
www.prostatetreatment.org

BOOK SPECIFICATIONS

- Paperback: 256 pages; Dim: 8.5" x 5.5" x .6"
- Publisher: Seneca House Press; 4th ed. Nov. 2003
- ISBN: 0964008890
- Illustrations and index
- American Cancer Society Award Winner

SENECA HOUSE PRESS

ONE MAN'S EMOTIONAL JOURNEY ... FROM DIAGNOSIS TO SUCCESSFUL RECOVERY.

NO ONE UNDERSTANDS LIKE SOMEONE WHO HAS BEEN THROUGH IT

Unlike many books dealing with medical conditions, this book tells it from the view of a patient confronted with life-threatening choices. Speaking from his own experience, prostate cancer survivor Don Kaltenbach cuts through the confusion and controversies. He tells how he avoided surgery and was successfully treated with radioactive "seed" implants (brachytherapy). Kaltenbach describes the entire range of available treatment options, including state-of-the-art Intensity Modulated Radiation Therapy (IMRT). This newly revised edition of the Survivor's Guide provides the most up-to-date information that may save your life or that of a loved one.

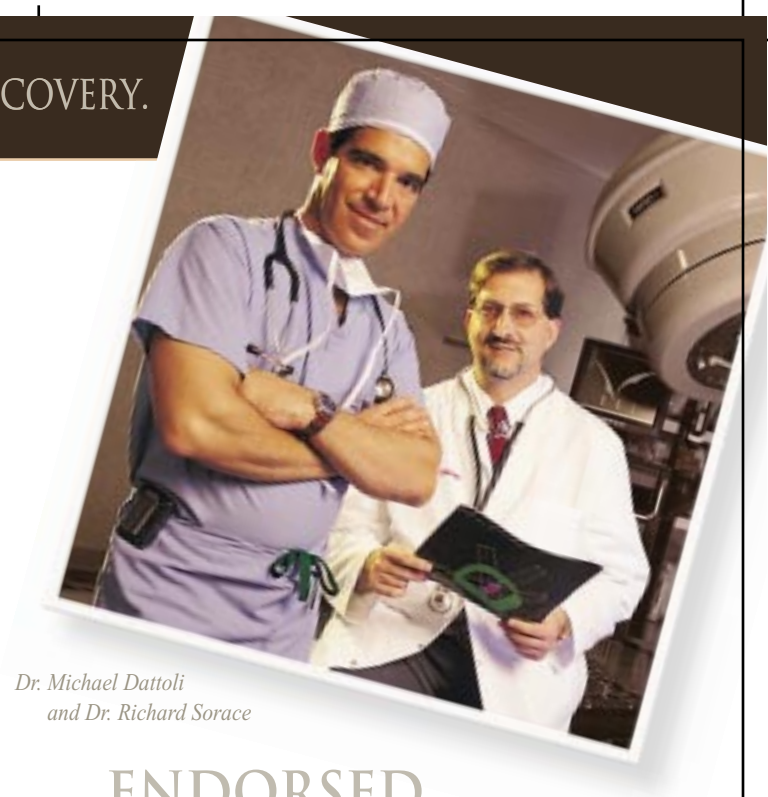
clear illustrations and graphs explain the effects and and treatments of prostate cancer.

"I was diagnosed in January of 1994 and your book has helped to relieve a lot of my anxiety. It's the best I've read, and I know it will help others."
— Don Cox, patient

A UNIQUE SOURCE OF INFORMATION

No other book explains more clearly...

- Why more men are choosing non-surgical therapies for the treatment of prostate cancer.
- Why recent medical advances have made radical prostatectomy unnecessary in many cases.
- The latest results of radioactive seed implants and Intensity Modulated Therapy (IMRT)
- The tests, the statistics, the stages and how to interpret them.
- The essential questions to ask your doctor before agreeing to any course of treatment.
- Quality of life concerns and coping with possible side effects like impotence and incontinence.



Dr. Michael Dattoli and Dr. Richard Sorace charts and lists are included in the back of the book that the patient can use to determine his own actual progress.

ENDORSED BY PROFESSIONALS

"Don Kaltenbach has written a brilliant text on prostate cancer. This is a 'must read' for all newly diagnosed patients and their families to assist them through the complex maze of available treatment options."

— Daniel H. Clarke, M.D., Northern Virginia Cancer Center, Alexandria, Virginia

"As one who has experienced prostate cancer firsthand, in his excellent book Don Kaltenbach insightfully describes what it is like to cope with the disease, and provides other prostate cancer patients with up-to-date information on both conventional and investigational therapies currently available."

— Norm Jones, M.D.
Director of Radiation Oncology Piedmont Hospital, Atlanta, GA